

Rating Action: Moody's changes ACSA's outlook to negative; affirms ratings

04 Nov 2019

London, 04 November 2019 -- Moody's Investors Service (Moody's) has today changed the outlook to negative from stable on Airports Company South Africa SOC Ltd (ACSA). Concurrently, Moody's has affirmed the Baa3 global scale long-term issuer ratings and the Aa1.za national scale long-term issuer rating of ACSA.

Today's rating action on ACSA follows the change in outlook to negative from stable on the Baa3 ratings of the Government of South Africa on 1 November 2019. For further information, please refer to the sovereign press release: https://www.moodys.com/research/--PR_412385.

RATINGS RATIONALE

The change in outlook to negative from stable reflects Moody's view that ACSA would not be rated higher than the Government of South Africa. This recognises (1) the 74.6% state ownership and the influence of the government on ACSA's policies; (2) the company's exposure to domestic regulatory oversight and local economic conditions due to its high percentage of domestic traffic; and (3) the company's exposure to domestic financial markets where it raises most of its debt.

ACSA is a government-related issuer (GRI) and its rating reflects Moody's view on the company's standalone credit quality, expressed as a baseline credit assessment (BCA) of baa3, together with potential uplift based on an assumption of support from the Government if this were ever required, which Moody's assesses as strong. Nevertheless, given the current sovereign rating level, there is no ratings uplift to the baa3 BCA applicable at this time. Under the GRI methodology, Moody's assesses dependence as moderate.

More generally, the Baa3/Aa1.za ratings are supported by ACSA's (1) ownership of a network of key infrastructure assets, with a monopolistic position in international scheduled traffic and a dominant position (more than 90%) of domestic scheduled traffic in South Africa; (2) strong and diverse service area, which includes all major conurbations in South Africa; and (3) moderately levered financial profile and a reasonably conservative financial policy.

ACSA's ratings are, however, constrained by (1) a system of economic regulation that has proved challenging in the past; (2) the company's exposure to South African Airways group, which relies on financial support from the South African government; and (3) exposure to weak economic conditions of South Africa.

The National Scale Rating of Aa1.za is assigned in accordance with guidance set out in Moody's methodology for Mapping National Scale Ratings from Global Scale Ratings, published in May 2016, and maps to a Baa3 global scale rating.

WHAT COULD CHANGE THE RATING UP/DOWN

An upgrade of ACSA's rating is unlikely in the short term, given the negative outlook. The outlook could be changed to stable if the outlook on the government of South Africa's rating was changed to stable.

Any downgrade of the Government of South Africa's rating will likely result in a downgrade in ACSA's rating. Downward pressure on the rating could also develop if ACSA's credit metrics were to weaken on a sustained basis, with the funds from operations (FFO) interest cover ratio consistently below 2.5x and the FFO/debt ratio consistently below the low teens in percentage terms. This may arise from factors such as (1) a more shareholder friendly dividend policy than currently envisaged; (2) significantly higher than anticipated capital expenditure; or (3) challenging regulatory settlements.

The methodologies used in these ratings were Privately Managed Airports and Related Issuers published in September 2017, and Government-Related Issuers published in June 2018. Please see the Rating Methodologies page on www.moodys.com for a copy of these methodologies.

Moody's National Scale Credit Ratings (NSRs) are intended as relative measures of creditworthiness among debt issues and issuers within a country, enabling market participants to better differentiate relative risks. NSRs differ from Moody's global scale credit ratings in that they are not globally comparable with the full universe of Moody's rated entities, but only with NSRs for other rated debt issues and issuers within the same country. NSRs are designated by a ".nn" country modifier signifying the relevant country, as in ".za" for South Africa. For further information on Moody's approach to national scale credit ratings, please refer to Moody's Credit rating Methodology published in May 2016 entitled "Mapping National Scale Ratings from Global Scale Ratings". While NSRs have no inherent absolute meaning in terms of default risk or expected loss, a historical probability of default consistent with a given NSR can be inferred from the GSR to which it maps back at that particular point in time. For information on the historical default rates associated with different global scale rating categories over different investment horizons, please see http://www.moodys.com/researchdocumentcontentpage.aspx?docid=PBC_1174796.

Airports Company South Africa SOC Ltd owns and operates nine airports in South Africa, including O.R. Tambo International Airport in Johannesburg, Cape Town International Airport and King Shaka International Airport in Durban. The company is majority owned (74.6%) by the Government of South Africa. In the financial year ended March 2019, ACSA reported revenues of ZAR7.1 billion (USD470 million).
